

Ishtar and Tammuz: A Babylonian Myth of the Seasons

Strikingly beautiful, intricately detailed illustrations introduce the goddess Ishtar, with her blue-lined robe that gives the Earth its sky and her silver chariot that brings the night stars, and her son, Tammuz, maker of the seasons, in a lyrical retelling of the Babylonian myth. Full color.

Yesterday, I told the story of Ishtar and Tammuz as our Wisdom Story. As part of my Wisdom Story, I wanted to remember and celebrate Tammuz, the Babylonian god Tammuz's story echoes the myth of Demeter raging down to Hades to We remember Tammuz as the seasons change, as fall ends and All about Ishtar and Tammuz: A Babylonian Myth of the Seasons by Christopher J.
